Hi and Welcome to Amalfi Estates,

When I started Amalfi Estates 17 years ago, my vision was to help people live their dream by finding them their ideal home in the Palisades. Living here in the Palisades with my family reminded me of the warmth and lifestyle of the Amalfi coast of Italy, and that warmth was something I wanted to capture in my business.

My goal is to be the kind of real estate agent I would want for myself: an agent committed to going the extra mile and always acting in the best interest of the client. I believe my commitment to two these two promises is what has led to the success of Amalfi Estates over the past 17 years. It is a privilege to help my clients find a home they truly love here in the Palisades, or to sell their home and help them live their dream elsewhere.

"Anthony's thinking is truly out of the box. He knows how to highlight the features that make a home sell. Whether it's hiring a helicopter or 60-ft boom truck to capture the best photo, holding champagne and caviar receptions, employing valet parking to introduce new homes, or getting stories of his homes in the Palisadian Post and LA Times, his marketing is extraordinary. Knowing the local market the way he does, owning his own company, co-authoring a book and publishing 90 articles on real estate speaks to the consummate expert he is. Anthony is simply the best" – Cathleen G

"Anthony is the hardest working person I know. He never stops thinking about what he can do for his clients. He commits himself to them with complete honesty and integrity, constantly looking for new ways to make their experience easy and successful" - Tim O'Brien

I am honored to share my success by giving back to this vibrant community to enhance its growth and the warmth it gives to us.

I extend my thankfulness to the Pacific Palisades Junior Women's Club for the incredible contributions they make to the Palisades public schools and charitable organizations here at home.

Thanks,
Anthony
